

The subject of the proposed repeal of the commutation clause, in the enrollment bill, before the U. S. Congress attracts great attention. The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun says: "What though the Senate recommit the bill repealing the $300 commutation clause, after having amended it with other provisions, the proposition is again before the Senate already. It was reported back from the military committee by Mr. Morgan, pure and simple, the members of that committee unanimously favoring it, except Mr. Wilson, who now, it is said, yields active opposition. The Senate, before recommitment had taken a vote on striking out the repealing clause, and carried it, 21 to 18.—The House has also voted by 100 to 50 not to repeal the commutation, by striking out from a pending bill a section which provided for such repeal. Thus it would seem that both Houses had definitely determined the question, but it is understood, notwithstanding, that the effort to effect the repeal will be persisted in by the military committee as a measure deemed necessary by the administration. Hence the prompt reporting of the bill again in the Senate. The democrats in the House all voted against the repeal, with, of course, a goodly number of republicans."

The Washington correspondent of the New York Times writes that he is informed from official quarters that the U. S. government is in earnest in the work of enlisting negro troops for the war in Kentucky. This gives much dissatisfaction, it is stated to many of the Union men in that state, "but there will be no opposition by them to the measure in any illegal manner."

The Louisville papers report the abstraction of $40,000 from the safe of one of the Federal Paymasters in that district, but do not give the name of the loser.

The Washington Chronicle declares that "the people of Washington are seething and sweltering together in a sphere impregnated with malignant disease."
